LENIN PLANS RE-SHUFFLE; MAY GIVE UP N. SAGHALIEN

Krassin Resignation Indicates Drastic Changes

THE 'CHEKA' TO GO

M. Joffe's Illness Is Described As "Diplomatic"

(Reuter's Service)

Riga, Oct. 9.—It is rumored in Moscow that M. Krassin, the Soviet Commissary for Foreign Affairs, will resign owing to the annulment of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Company's contract.

Sweeping reforms are expected as a result of M. Lenin's return to authority. As an example, it is said that the activity of the political board, formerly known as the Cheka, will be limited and its employes reduced by 75 percent. It is believed that the staffs of all the commissariats will be reduced.

A change of policy as regards the Far East is also predicted. It is said that M. Lenin is willing to cede the northern part of Saghalien to Japan. The illness of M. Joffe is described as diplomatic, and explained by M. Lenin's wish to keep the Russian Delegation at Changchun.

JAPAN TO KEEP SHIPS

As a result of the rupture of the Russo-Japanese conference in Changchun, the Japanese government has decided to continue detaining two Russian gunboats and four Russian transports and steam-launches which were seized by the Japanese troops in the Amur in 1919, says the Japan Advertiser.

These warships and transports have been detained by the Japanese troops stationed in Nokolaievsk but with the removal of the troops they will be brought to Decastri where they will be put under the control of the remaining Japanese troops.

Fukien Invaders Again Advancing Toward Foochow

After meeting with minor reverses, the Fukien invaders are again advancing upon Foochow, according to reports received here yesterday. According to the Eastern News Agency, the troops of General Hsu Chung-chi, formerly of the Northern Punitive Expedition, has occupied Tahu, 60 li from Foochow, while a telegraphic message from General Wang Yung-chien to another local news agency says that the central column is bombarding Shuikow on the Mingkiang with much effect.

Fukien Marines Land In Foochow

(Evening Star Service)

Foochow, Oct. 8.—The various consuls have called their people together and planned a course of action in case trouble does come. A number of gun-boats have landed marines in case it should be necessary. The report is that the southerners are approaching the city by three or four routes and are enlisting the brigands in the way and they are going to take the city with a great rush. People are fleeing from the city by the thousands taking what things they can with them. It in an ill wind that blows no one good as those about Foochow are renting rooms at an exorbitant price, thereby reaping a harvest from the unfortunate. It is reported that Chi-kau has been taken and that the invading army is only some sixty miles away, and if it had boats it could reach here in twelve hours. It is also reported that many boats here in the river have been sealed by the Governor Lee and that he is going to slip away without putting up a fight. That he has been strongly advised to do so is without question. One thing is sure, something is going to happen within two or three days.

AGREE ON POLICY

(Reuter's Service)

Reval, October 10.—The conference of Foreign Ministers of the Baltic States has resulted in full agreement of questions of foreign policy.

-:- Yak-Tail Trails -:-

A Romantic Trek From The Land of The Midnight Sun Through The Heart Of Asia, The Fantastic Land of Mongolia, And Mysterious Thibet To Shanghai.

II—AMONG THE KIRGHIZ

By Larry Lehrbas

Ghenghiz Khan, when he rode centaur-like at the head of his barbarian hordes with a dangling yak-tail as his banner of war, knew nothing of the Bolsheviki. They, and their monumental scheme for running the world on radical governmental standards, were undreamed of by the conqueror and ruler of the great Cowherd Empire.

The Kirghiz tribes of Russia, a large division of Turkish descendants who people the mountains and steppes over a vast expanse of territory, rimmed by the Arctic Circle and centering along the Volga and Ob rivers, knew Ghenghiz Khan and his conquering armies, however, because he carried his yak-tail banners into their country and ruled them with powerful hand in the height of his power. And when he passed on to the Fighting Grounds with his barbarian ancestors he left a son, Juji, Khan of the Golden Horde, as their ruler and they fought under his yak-tail flags until the kingdom of the Khans, the greatest empire in the history of man, was broken into hundreds of kingdoms, smaller states, super-tribes and tribes scattered about the grazing grounds of Central Asia.

When Serge Eggert traveled across their country in the dog-train sleds of a Kirghiz fur-trader, therefore, he was already following the yak-tail trail that was to take him from the rim of the Arctic Circle through many adventures, strange lands and among strange peoples to Mongolia, Thibet, China until he reached the prosaic International Settlement of Shanghai.

FROM EUROPE TO ASIA

Serge was not a man of the Northland. His knowledge of the tundra wastes and the steppes and ice-bound streams they traveled across with their seven dog-sleds along the Dwina river, across the River Kama, over the lower passes of the Ural Mountains from European Russia into Western Siberia to Tobolsk, was purely from books. He knew nothing of the manner in which teams of dogs become the beasts of burden of the North country, or how to untangle a pack of yelping, snapping malemutes fighting for more than their share of the daily portion of frozen fish.

Before those weeks of sledding across the steppes of Northern Russia had passed, however, he learned considerable, was severely frost-bitten several times, and had his first touch of the strange government that had upset the Romanoff dynasty of his life in Petrograd. Serge's first experience with Soviet officials was not unpleasant for the Commissar of the Kirghiz tribe they met in a little village on the River Ob after their long trek overland was fairly well educated and widely traveled for a native of that hinterland of civilisation.

Commissar Dum in his youth had traveled in Russia proper and the United States, he told them. Returning to his native tribal land he was one of his people's leaders when the Czar was overthrown and the minor tribal khans were changed by name to 'Commissars' in order to keep up the new but drastic Bolshevik traditions. Serge and his two companions on the romantic trek across the heart of Asia—Andre, the Russian, and Mure, the French cadet—stayed with Commissar Dum as honored guests for several days. They brought with them news and fresh views of the outside world and were therefore doubly welcome for the Commissar was not altogether content with the rigors of holding a semi-civilised tribe of people whose ancestors had been nomads for centuries under the sway of Moscow.

During their short stay Commissar Dum became ill and Mure, the French cadet, who had a crude, elemental, student's knowledge of medicine, was able to help him. At the time it appeared a minor, unimportant friendly act. They were to find, however, that it was to assume proportions far beyond its intrinsic worth, and perhaps save their lives.

BY BOAT TO TOBOLSK

A small river ship, the 'Red Eagle', was ready within a day or two for its usual trip down the River Irtysh to Tobolsk, and Commissar Dum, to help them on their way, gave them permission to travel on the craft. No other fare than the Commissar's order was needed as the Soviet practices of the North country include free transportation for workers, providing they work en route. So it was that Serge, Andre and Mure helped toss big logs of virgin timber into the wood-burner furnaces of the 'Red Eagle' until they reached Tobolsk, the old city founded by the Cossacks and for many years an important city of the

LINER NANKING ARRIVING TODAY WITH U. S. MAIL

President Lincoln Of Pacific Mail Due In Friday From San Francisco

Bringing 33 sacks of mail, 88 passengers and 555 tons of cargo for Shanghai the China Mail steamer Nanking is due in port from San Francisco today and will dock at the China Merchants Central Wharf about 7:30 o'clock this morning. The steamer is to be dispatched for Hongkong direct at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Another American mail is to arrive on Friday on the Pacific Mail steamer President Lincoln which comes from San Francisco, and following the Lincoln the President Jefferson of the Admiral Line from Seattle and the T.K.K. steamer Shinyo Maru from San Francisco are due to arrive here next Tuesday.

Mail for America will be dispatched on the President Taft of the Pacific Mail next Tuesday, and the President Grant of the Admiral Line on October 22. The Taft is due in San Francisco via Kobe, Yokohama and Honolulu, on November 5 and the Grant arrives in Seattle via Japan ports only on November 7.

Mail from European ports is due on the P. and O. steamer Dongola tomorrow morning. The liner comes from London and left Hongkong Monday morning.

The next mail for Europe will be carried by the M. M. liner Angers on Saturday. Ordinary matter will close at the British Post Office at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and registered at noon.

The Angers is to dock at the S. M. R. Whangpoo Wharf from Kobe tomorrow and sails at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Passengers may embark at the wharf after 1 o'clock and heavy baggage must be delivered to the Company's office before Friday noon.

Chemical Society Hears Lecture On Hardening Of Oils

A general meeting of the Shanghai Chemical Society was held at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday afternoon when Mr. R. Bachrach of the Shanghai Chemical Laboratory read an interesting paper on "Hydrogenation of Oils."

Dealing first with the production of hydrogen, the lecture described the four methods in general use for the generation and purification of the gas, laying stress on the need for a gas of a high degree of purity. Then followed brief descriptions of the chemical principles involved in the utilisation of the hydrogen in hardening the oils, interesting tables of results and curves being shown.

The paper was succeeded by a lively discussion in several of the points raised, particular interest being shown in the possibilities of application of the process to oils in China. The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Bachrach.

The next meeting is to be held on Monday, November 20th, when a paper on "Soap Manufacture" is to be read by Mr. P. H. Hsu of the International Soap Works.

RICSHA STRIKE COMES TO END AS FOREMEN CAPITULATE

Strikers Sign Agreement And Take Out Licenses

WORK IS RESUMED

3,000 Star Ricshas Now Back In Service

The strike of the 31 foremen of the Star Ricsha Company, which had taken a third of Shanghai's public ricshas from the streets for three days, ended yesterday when the strikers accepted the company's terms practically as put and took over the licenses for the vehicles allotted them.

The capitulation of the foremen came late Monday, after Mr. A. Cohen had reiterated his intention to make no more concessions and had furnished the strikers with the draft of stipulations under which they would be allowed to return to his employ. A few minor concessions, of "face saving" variety were granted by the proprietor and the foremen then signed the agreement requiring them to abstain from membership of a union and to abide by the rules of the company.

The entire 3,000 ricshas of the Star concern were in operation yesterday, officials of the company said last evening, and it was not anticipated that there would be any further trouble.

The original demand made by the foremen was that they be not charged hire for the ricshas on days when the weather was too inclement for the coolies to ago out. This was agreed to by the company, and the proprietor also agreed not to assess hire on other occasions—for instance when ricshas were ordered out of service by the police—so long as the vehicles were returned to the head offices. The final demand made by the foremen Monday was for the discharge of one of Mr. Cohen's Chinese employes who had served as an investigator during the trouble which began with the foremen several months ago. This the proprietor refused, but told the committee that if in future they had anything to complain of regarding his employe and could prove that he was in the wrong he would see that the grievance was remedied.

The final concessions made the foremen included a reduction of $1 in the price to be charged for ricsha aprons and the removal of the repair charge for axles and springs.

China Division Of Woman's Club Taking Rug Orders

The China Division of the American Woman's Club will take orders for Chinese rugs—made to order or from stock of a reliable firm under foreign supervision. All inquiries and orders should be addressed to Mrs. R. A. Parker, 36 Carter Road, telephone West 275, or to Mrs. Lavers, 616 Rue de l' Observatoire.

Captain Of Egypt Quits On Pension

London, Oct. 10.—The P. and O. Steam Navigation Company's annual report says that the Captain of the ill-fated Egypt has voluntarily resigned and has been granted the maximum pension.

Georgia Woman Named For Senate To Succeed Watson

(China Press Service)

Atlanta, Georgia, Oct. 8.—A woman has secured a seat in the United States Senate for the first time with the appointment of Mrs. C. C. Fenton to succeed the late Senator Thomas E. Watson. The appointment is purely honorary, as a new Senator will be nominated and elected before Congress is reconvened. The appointee is a leader of the woman's movement in Georgia.

Pennsylvania Klansmen Kidnap Photographer

To be visited in the middle of the night by masked men, ordered to take his camera and flashlight lamp, and driven several miles in an automobile while blindfolded, to find himself in the midst of a Ku Klux Klan gathering, was the unusual experience of Clark Rutter, prominent photographer, of Pittsburgh, Pa. After making a photograph of the Klansmen in meeting regalia, together with several candidates, Rutter again was blindfolded and driven home. Rutter had been taken to a meeting of 2,000 Klansmen, of Lawrence and Mercer counties, Pennsylvania at which 200 more were initiated.

Processions And Meetings Feature National Holiday

Despite the order of the local Defense Commissioner prohibiting open demonstrations on the occasion of China's National holiday, the Double Ten Festival, which occured yesterday, a parade against armament during the day and a lantern procession in the evening, each participated by more than 3,000 Chinese, featured the many celebrations here.

Both demonstrations were participated in by students and the younger folk of the commercial and laboring class. The parade began from the compound of the Second Normal School in the City where over 3,000 people gathered shortly after noon. They were first addressed by Mr. Yih Chu-chang, editor of the Republican Daily News and Mr. Yang Yien-kiang, editor of the Commercial Press. Both emphasised the importance of giving employment to disbanded troops in order that the latter may not become bandits. Mr. Kung Fan-hsi, chairman of the executive committee, presided.

Following the speeches the large body of men, armed with small banners bearing appropriate legends, marched in orderly style around the city, tracing the roads where the old city wall used to stand. A number of cartoons decorated the walls of the school where the parade began.

The lantern procession, which was very spectacular, was held by no less than 40 organisations. It began from the Chinese French School at Nanyang Bridge and took in a section of Frenchtown as well as the Boulevard des Deux Republiques, the old West Gate, Chung Hua Road, the small East Gate and the New North Gate, where the procession dispersed. Along the route strict order was preserved and in spite of the order from military quarters the police made no interference.

RECEPTION AT BUREAU

The official reception yesterday morning at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs was attended by members of the Consular Body, Municipal officials, Chinese officials and Magistrates of the Courts. General Ho Feng-lin, the Defense Commissioner, was represented by his aide-de-camp, Colonel Wang Yu-nung. Admiral E. A. Anderson, Commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic Fleet, was among the guests who attended the reception.

An interesting feature of the reception was the presentation by Colonel Marr Johnson, Commandant of the S.V.C., of a sword to Captain T. A. Zee of the Chinese Co.

The Chinese Company marched from its Camp at the Rifle Range to the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, where Mr. Hsu Yuen, Commissioner for Foreign Affairs of Kiangsu, and the aide-de-camp representing the Defence Commissioner reviewed the unit.

Following the review came the presentation of the sword to Capt. Zee. As a token of appreciation of his long and creditable service in the Chinese Co., Capt. Zee, on behalf the unit, presented a beautiful memento to Capt. G. Grayrigge, who was Officer Commanding the Chinese Co. for so many years.

The occasion was brought to a close by the presentation of cups by Capt. Grayrigge. The cups were: the Inter-Port Challenge Cup, to be competed for by the Chinese Volunteer Companies of Shanghai, Penang and Singapore; the Grayrigge Cup, to be competed for by members of the Chinese Co., Shanghai Volunteer Corps, and six souvenir cups for long service members of the unit.

ADDRESSES TROOP

In addressing the Chinese Co., Mr. Hsu Yuen said in part:

"It really gives me a great pleasure and honor to review such a smart and respectable unit of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps on this National Day of the 11th year of the Republic of China. The Chinese Co. now is a self-composed unit, officered and controlled by Chinese. This is the result of many years of hard and efficient work. The fact that you are a Chinese Co. in every sense of the word places on you a greater responsibility—the responsibility to maintain the prestige of the unit, the duty to the community and the glory of your motherland."

Col. Marr-Johnson, in making the presentation said:

"Captain Zee, I have the greatest pleasure in presenting you with

CHINESE COMPANY ENDS SUCCESSFUL CAMP AT RANGE

The Chinese Company, S. V. C. brought a four-day camp to a successful termination yesterday with an interesting and varied program. The camp began last Friday with an excellent attendance. The members showed remarkable spirit in carrying through an almost continuous program during the whole period, and the camp arrangements were excellent—every comfort of the Company being well looked after. Everybody voted that they had a real good time.

Yesterday morning an impressive and memorable exercise was held at the Bureau of Foreign Affairs in celebration of China's National Holiday, full report of which is published elsewhere in THE CHINA PRESS. After the ceremony, the company drove to the Rifle Range where a special dinner was given.

Col. R. Marr Johnson, Lieut. Col. T. E. Trueman, the commanders and officers of the other units of the Corps, the chairman and vice chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, as well as the president and the vice-presidents of the Chinese Volunteer Association and several others were invited.

In the afternoon, a large number of Chinese ladies and gentlemen, as well as some foreign visitors, were present. Immediately after the program of sports, the field operation, which consisted of the attack on and defence of the camp, was held and was highly praised by the Commandant. To the non-military visitors, the fight was full of excitement and interest. Thousands of crackers were let off to mark the progress of the battle.

The last event of the program was the distribution of certificates and prizes to the various members by Col. Marr Johnson. The numerous cups and other prizes were on exhibition during the afternoon.

The camp was broken at 6 p.m. with the saluting of the Chinese National Flag and those who remained after six were entertained with a show of Chinese fireworks.

NAVAL INQUIRY HERE INTO DEATH OF LOST ENSIGN

H. D. Peeples, Engineer Officer, Fell Overbard, Belief

Authorities of the American Asiatic Fleet and officers of the Destroyer Division now visiting Shanghai are conducting an inquiry in connection with the disappearance of Ensign H. D. Peeples, who was an engineer officer on the Destroyer Paul Jones, and who vanished from his ship the first day out of Chefoo when the Paul Jones was on its way to Shanghai.

While no disclosures have been made concerning the inquiry that is in progress the general belief has been given by men of the Paul Jones that Ensign Peeples fell overboard while ill. It was known among his shipmates that he had been suffering an attack of sickness which was seriously aggravated by the rough weather that the destroyer encountered after it left Chefoo.

When the man was missed the destroyer put back and cruised in search of him for a period before resuming the voyage to Shanghai. Ensign Peeples was a native of Illinois, coming from a little village called Shawneetown in the southern part of the state.

Fire Department Gets Two Genuine And One False Call

Two genuine calls and a false alarm occupied the attention of the Fire Department yesterday.

At about 1:30 a.m. Central Division was called to 14 Kiukiang Road, an office and residence building where, owing to a heavy fire having been banked in a cook stove, some charcoal had ignited and melted a gas pipe, the gas firing. The gas was shut off and the charcoal was damped down, only slight damage being done.

At 8:35 a.m. the Department was summoned to XA 488 North Fokien Road, where two shops were found in flames, with the upper portions of another affected. In spite of poor water pressure the outbreak was rapidly checked. No. 488, a brass smith's shop was badly damaged on the first floor and roof, as was also No. 489, a trunk maker's shop, while the damage to an adjoining carpenter's shop, at 490 and 491 North Fokien Road was confined to a small area on the first floor and roof.

Shortly before noon a call was received from Ward and Tsitsihar Roads, but Yangtszepoo Division on arrival found that it was only joss paper being burned in a vacant lot.

NEW CABINET

(Reuter's Service)

Copenhagen, October 10.—M. Neergaard's Cabinet has been reconstructed. M. M. C. Cold, former Dirtctor of the United Steamship Co., replaces M. Scavenius as Minister of Foreign Affairs, and M. M. S. Brorsen replaces M. K. Berntsen as Minister of Defense.

The reconstruction of the Cabinet is due to differences with regard to the protective import regulations, recently promulgated, which presumably are now held up.

LONDON SEES PROSPECT OF SETTLEMENT IN NEAR EAST

Outlook Is Bright, Says Constantinople Telegram

PREMIER'S STAND

Lloyd George Tells Labor Leaders He Acted For Peace

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 10.—The prospect of an early settlement of the Near Eastern situation is bright, according to a telegram from Constantinople.

Mr. Winston Churchill in a telegram read to his constitutency in Dundee says: "I think we shall get through our troubles in the Near East all right."

Athens, Oct. 10.—The emigration of the entire Christian population of East Thrace is considered inevitable. The Thracian deputies are going to their constituencies to arrange for emigration under the best possible conditions to West Thrace and other parts of Greece.

London, Oct. 10.—The report of the interview of the Labor Delegation with Mr. Lloyd George on the subject of the Near East crisis shows that the Premier contended that the Government's policy was essentially the peace policy of Labor as laid down by the party in 1918. The Government was taking the only method of preventing war spreading to Europe for, if the Turks crossed in their present massacring mood and massacres occurred, the whole infernal trouble would commence again. The Government would urge at the conference that the key of the Straits should be in the pocket of the League of Nations.

In reply to a question, Mr. Lloyd George said that the freedom of the Straits meant that it should be just like any other international waterway, free for vessels of any nation to pass to and fro the Black Sea, and should remain neutral in war time. The League would have to decide whether fortifications would be necessary.

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The French and Italian Generals returned from Mudania yesterday evening owing to differences between the British and French texts of instructions sent from Paris. After supplementary instructions had been asked from Paris, London and Rome the Generals left again tonight for Mudania. It is hoped that a protocol will be signed as soon as further instructions are received.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha has been urged by telegram to come to Mudania in order to hasten a solution.

Paris, Oct. 9.—M. Poincare this morning despatched supplementary instructions to General Pelle to disperse the misunderstandings at Mudania with regard to the delimitation of a new neutral zone and the number of Turkish gendarmerie to be allowed to enter Thrace.

(China Press Service)

Athens, Oct. 10.—Acting Premier Krokidas announced today that the Greecian government has accepted the ruling of the powers and had ordered the withdrawal of Greek troops from Thrace. He stated that his government's decision had been communicated to the Greecian delegates meeting at Mudania. Premier Krokidas added that it was quite possible that M. Zaimis would reconsider his decision about accepting the Premiership due to recent developments in the Near East situation.

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—The Turkish general staff has been given definite instructions regarding the inviolability of the neutral zone, together with geographical limits of same. The Allied Powers have also communicated to the Turkish Government rulings for the conduct of Turkish troops in East Thrace.

Two Turkish detachments which broke through the Asiatic neutral zone near Ismidt last night were immediately recalled when Allied warning was transmitted to them. The whole front continues calm with only a few minor local disturbances.

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—In response to Sir Charles Harington's letter, Ismet Pasha intimated that he had ordered the cessation of Turkish troops movements and explained that the movements at both Ismid and Chanak were due to purely local orders.

region and an administrative center for exiles sent into the wild, dreary wastes of Northern Russia by the Czars. Now Tobolsk has fallen from its ancient high estate and was thrown into the limelight again for only a brief moment after Czar Nicholas abdicated the throne of the Romanoffs and was murdered with his family somewhere in the nearby region by the Bolshevists. Many tales are told of the Czar's last days—and Serge Eggert was to hear one more under ominous circumstances before he was to leave Tobolsk.

At Tobolsk the three young cadets met the Cheka.

The Cheka, or Extraordinary Commission Against Counter-Revolution, to give them their high-sounding, official Bolshevist title, are the dread secret police of the Soviet. Many more stories of their fearful deeds have already been told than Serge Eggert and his companions knew then, or now, but they rest perfectly happy in not knowing them any better than they do from their personal experiences.

The Cheka met the 'Red Eagle' when it docked at the port of Tobolsk and were naturally inquisitive concerning the arrival of the three young strangers who told such a strange tale of having crossed the tundra wastes and steppes of European Russia with no objective in view except to travel on further. They asked questions. Serge Eggert and his two companions answered them truthfully. They desired to search the three cadets, and proceeded to do so without any further discussion. And among the belongings of one of the cadets, andre, they found a forgotten card in the corner of which were the tell-tale letters that marked Andre as a cadet at Kronstadt.

THROWN INTO PRISON

All three cadets had had such cards engraved during their days at the Naval College at Kronstadt, proudly and with boyish egotism. It marked them, in the old days, as members of the Naval set, officers-to-be of His Majesty, the Czar Nicholas. Now it was to prove their undoing.

Without further parley the three cadets were marched from the ship to the Tobolsk prison. Prison, to them, was new and strange, but the walls of the Tobolsk prison had held within its cold, harsh clasp many such political prisoners before. When Tobolsk was the administrative center for exiles in the days of the Czar's many political prisoners had been sent there to rot and die in the cold, relentless North country. In the very prison into which they were thrown the guards boasted that the Czar Nicholas himself had been imprisoned for a short time before being executed in the Ekaterinburg region about 300 miles away. What accurate facts are known of the last days of the doomed ruler bear out the guards' boasts.

Memories of their former Czar imprisoned in perhaps the same cells they occupied fed the imaginations of the three boy prisoners during their incarceration in the Tobolsk prison. They were haunted by the ghosts of the Imperial family when they were laughingly assured by the guards that "one who enters Tobolsk prison never emerges alive." The Czar, of course, had been taken out of the dreary, dank, barred cells still living, but he had been executed shortly after in Ekaterinburg. They were whippersnapper royalists and would probably be executed on the morrow, or surely the next morning. And so day after day, they watched the vagrant beams of sunshine that sometimes—very seldom—found their way into the dark, cold cells of Tobolsk prison.

The above is the second of a series of stories describing the adventures of three young Russian students over the "Yak-tail Trail" of Central Asia. Tomorrow's story will describe their further adventures and prison life in Russia under the Bolshevik regime.

De Valera And Childers Captured?

UNCONFIRMED reports have reached London of the capture of Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Irish Republicans in their revolt against Free State authority, and Erskine Childers, one of his chief lieutenants. Childers, who is reported seriously wounded, is an Englishman, but one of England's bitterest enemies in Irish affairs.

BRITAIN MAY ADOPT NEW VOTING PLAN

Proportional Representation Would Divide Seats According To Size Of Parties

(China Press Service).

London, (by mail).—The summer school held recently at Wadham College, Oxford, in connection with the Proportional Representation Society, is a sign of the rapid advance which the reformed method of voting advocated by the society has made among practical politicians in Great Britain. From being merely a curious and academic proposal, "P. R." as it is familiarly known, has suddenly become a serious and practical one. That this is no overstatement of the position is proved by the fact that one of the great historic parties of the state, the Liberal Party, at its annual conference at Blackpool, lent its support to the idea; while the success of the device in the Irish elections has given it a great deal of publicity.

What has done more than anything else, however, to bring it within the range of practical politics, is the uncertainty as to their electrical prospects felt by the various parties. The emergence of the possibility of an autumn election has caused each party to make careful calculations concerning its strength in the constituencies, with, in almost every case, a discouraging or uncertain verdict. On the one hand, the Unionists find themselves faced with the possibility of a serious revolt on the part of the "Diehards," or independent Conservatives, especially in the south of England.

On the other hand, the Coalition Liberals are conscious that their following in the north has been seriously weakened, owing to the concession they had to make on the question of "fabric gloves." To this must be added the fact that rumors have been current of growing difficulties within the Coalition, involving the possible dissolution of the partnership. In these circumstances it is only to be expected that any section which stands in danger of obtaining less than its proportional share of representation in Parliament will be favorably inclined toward a proposal for avoiding such a disaster.

ATTITUDE ENCOURAGED

This attitude is greatly encouraged by the remarkably rapid advances which "P. R." is making both in the British Isles and in other lands. It has been successfully applied to (1) the Irish elections; (2) the General Election in Holland of July this year; (3) the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales; (4) the Houses of Parliament of Malta, and (5) the local education authorities throughout Scotland. In addition, the fact that the National Union of Teachers of England and Wales has adopted "P. R." in the election of their executive committee and officers is having a useful propaganda result.

The claims made by the Proportional Representation Society in recommending their plan are of a far-reaching character. The secretary of the society has recently pointed out that the forthcoming general election in Great Britain cannot be other than a mere gamble, in the present divided state of parties. The House of Commons that will be elected almost certainly will be quite unrepresentative of the country. To press this argument home, he contrasts the results of the elections for the Education Authority in Glasgow, which were held under "P. R.," and those of the London Borough Councils conducted under the old system. In the largest electoral division in Glasgow, returning nine members, no less than 43,257 votes out of 48,048 were utilised in deciding who were the successful candidates. That is to say that more than 90 percent of the electors can feel that they had a personal and effectual share in shaping the constitution of the authority.

MARKED CONTRAST EVIDENT

As a contrast to this the result of the London Borough Council elections in the St. Pancras ward which also returned nine members may be given. The figures in 1919 were:

Municipal Reform .....8662 votes giving nine seats.

Progressives .....7232 votes giving no seats at all.

Thus a majority obtained all the seats, and a minority numbering nearly half the electorate was totally unrepresented.

In the recent elections in Ireland, the Proportional Representation Society finds much encouragement. The secretary points out that under the old single-member system in force in 1918, Sinn Fein, although polling 20,000 votes less than the Unionists and Nationalists, succeeded in winning a majority of the seats (47 out of 76). Further, the Nationalists were practically wiped out, although their voting strength would have entitled them, on a proportional basis, to a quarter of the members. With proportional representation, the secretary points out, this party would have remained in being. They would have taken their seats in Parliament and would have been as numerous as the Unionists.

Who can estimate the possible effects upon the course of events in Ireland and upon the relations between that country and Britain had this result been achieved? At the election held his year the effect of the introduction of proportional representation was to render the "pact" ineffective and to give to the electors the opportunity of running independent candidates and getting them in, a result which would have been impossible under the single member system. The new Dail gives a clear reflection of the opinion of Ireland.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS LAUNCHED TODAY BY THE Y.W.C.A.

Open Campaign For Budget Of Dollars 16,000

A campaign for the raising of $16,000 will be launched in Shanghai today by the Young Women's Christian Association, the fund being for the budget to be used in local work and the extension of the Association's activities throughout China.

The budget this year is [illegible] higher than last, owing to enlargement of the organisation [illegible] an International Association to meet the needs of foreign women in Shanghai. The drive for fund will end October 25.

In making their appeal the Y. W. C. A. presents the following facts for the information of contributors regarding the scope and working of the organisation:

The Shanghai Y.W.C.A. began when a small group of English and American women in Shanghai appealed to the World's Committee in behalf of the Chinese girls with the result that in 1906 Miss Grace L. Coppock was sent from America to be associated with Miss Mary Ting, one of the first Chinese women to be educated in England, in the establishment of a model city Association at 11A Quinsan Road, where the local Association headquarters are at present situated.

The Association is a gathering place for Chinese girls and women. Classes are held in English, Bible study, typewriting and cooking, and simple rules are given for cleaner and better homes. A special feature of the work is a hostel for women teachers, clerk, women passing through Shanghai, girls away from home who are studying in Shanghai and all women who for various reasons need a safe and comfortable place in which to live. The hostel at present has rooms for thirty but is far too small to meet the need; a new building is hoped for later. Another special piece of work is a group of clubs similar to the Girl Guides. During the summer a camp for girls was held at Kuling at which the girls themselves raised three hundred dollars towards a permanent building by giving an outdoor performance of "The Taming of the Shrew." The local Association has staff of fourteen secretaries, ten of whom are Chinese and four foreign. The governing committee is entirely Chinese.

In addition to the city Association three other centers of Y W. C. A. work are located in Shanghai:—The headquarters office at 3 Hongkong Road in which all of local offices with their combined membership of 6,670 are represented. A Normal School of Physical Education and Hygiene at 37 Kinchow Road with sixty-two graduates serving as physical directors in government and mission schools all over China, and thirty-seven more girls now enrolled in the two year course. A National Industrial Department is organised to equip the organisation to be of assistance both to employers and employees. The Y. W. C. A. furnishes three workers and three thousand dollars annually to the Council on Health Education for the purpose of stressing better health among women and children. Two of them are foreign trained doctors.

The salaries of the secretaries are supplied by the countries from which they come. There are at present eighty-six foreign women working in the Association, their expenses provided by their respective countries, England, Canada, Australia, Sweden and America. America also carries certain pieces of work until they have passed the experimental stage and can be taken over by the Chinese. The salaries of all the Chinese workers and all current expenses are raised in China. Since the beginning of the organisation there has been a rapid increase in the ratio of Chinese versus foreign support. Exclusive of the foreign secretaries the ratio of financial support is 70 percent from China, 30 percent from foreign countries.

Funds are raised by local campaigns in each center for the local budget plus a share in the national budget whereby each organisation helps to start work in new centers.

this sword as a personal gift from myself. I am making you this small offering for three reasons—first, as a token of my gratitude to you for the many ways in which you have helped me in my work since I have been in command of the Corps; secondly, to express my great appreciation of the services you have rendered and are still rendering to the Chinese Co. and of the high state of efficiency to which you have raised it; and, lastly, to commemorate the fact of your being the first Chinese officer to occupy the proud position of commander of that Company. I have been able to think of no better way of expressing my appreciation of your energy, enthusiasm, patriotism, and devotion to the interests of your Company and the Corps, than by making you this present of British steel.

"May you wear it for many years to come, and thereafter keep it as a souvenir of your command of the Company and may it bring you many happy recollections of these days."

Capt. Zee's speech when presenting the memento to Capt. Grayrigge was as follows:

"Fifteen years ago, when the Chinese Company was formed, it was, so to speak, a new babe born into the world. We were indebted to the Municipal Council for providing the babe with a most excellent nurse in the person of Capt. Grayrigge. He has nursed and trained the child in a most successful manner. To him are due the good education, discipline and efficiency the Company possesses today.

"We are now a trained boy of fifteen, as it were, and must look after ourselves and keep up the present efficient condition. This we will do with our best endeavor, if only to repay Capt. Grayrigge for his 15 years of most devoted care of us.

TRIBUTE TO LEADER

"To commemorate the priceless nursing and training given to us, I would ask Capt. Grayrigge to please accept this small, but most sincere memento from the Company, and to thank him, though 'thank' is hardly a fitting word, on behalf of our members and members of the Chinese community for such rare self-sacrifice.

"You can rely on us, Capt. Grayrigge, to do our very, very best to perpetuate the very high efficiency up to which you have trained us. We owe it to you, as well as to the community, that we should make ourselves of true value to the place we live in."

Capt. Grayrigge said in reply:

"I cannot adequately express to you my thanks for the kind words you have just spoken and for this beautiful gift which you have handed to me on behalf of the Company.

"I accept it and I shall treasure it. It shall go down to my children as an heirloom. And when I use it, which shall be daily, I shall think of the Chinese Company and of those stout hearts who helped so greatly to place the Company on its present safe and sure foundation and have raised it to the prominent position it occupies in the S.V.C. this day, its fifteenth and best year of efficiency. More thanks are due to you, Captain Zee and Lieutenant Woo than to me for this happy state of affairs.

"I am happy that my connection with the Company does not end with the termination of my active command. I shall be in close touch with you and all that you do in my new capacity at headquarters and I shall always take the deepest interest in your welfare.

"To mark the termination of my Active Command, I beg your acceptance of this Challenge Cup to be competed for on any lines you and the Company Committee may think most suitable.

"I have just returned from the Straits Settlements. Both Penang and Singapore have Chinese Volunteer Companies, and are with Shanghai unique in this respect. Great interest was evinced in our Chinese Company. To further this interest I challenged them and they agreed to compete for an Interport Challenge Cup, thus reviving an event last shot for in 1910. I have the honor, Captain Zee, to ask you to take charge of this Challenge Cup with the hope that Shanghai will hold it against both Singapore and Penang.

"Again Captain Zee I thank you and your Company for your loyal support for so many years and I wish you continued efficiency and every success."

BOYS SCOUTS FETE

Chinese Boy Scouts of Shanghai held their celebration at the Public Recreation Grounds, West Gate, at nine o'clock. Eight hundred Scouts, representing 22 schools, participated, while the number of spectators totalled 2,000.

After the exercises for the raising of the National colors and the firing of crackers, the Scouts were addressed by Mr. Wang Keng-ting Taoyin of Shanghai; Mr. Shen Pao-chang, Magistrate of Shanghai City, and Mr. S. S. Feng, president of the Chinese Boy Scouts' Association. After singing of the National Anthem, the Boy Scouts paraded from West Gate to Small North Gate and dispersed.

LABORERS' PROGRAM

Chinese commercial and labor organisations met at the main hall of the Southeastern University at 2 o'clock to celebrate the Republican anniversary. Eight hundred attended, among whom there were a number of women.

Mr. Zau Nan-kung chairman of the Foochow Road Street Union, presided, and there were speeches, music, boxing and dramas. Representatives of the Korean Republic attended to present their greetings.

The Ningpo Association, the Chinese Y.M.C.A., and various schools held individual celebrations in honor of the occasion.

"The Powder Puffs"

The local theatrical season will open Friday evening, when a musical company headed by Mr. Jimmy Young, well known in the East, begins a five-night engagement at the Olympic.

Press reports from other cities indicate that Mr. Young has some entertaining programs for Shanghai folk and that his company, "The Powder Puffs," is made up of a group of clever artists. The troupe includes Miss Muriel White, pianist and contralto; Mr. Bert Hamill, comedian; Miss Nita Corri, comedienne; Miss Susan Verney and Mr. Edward de Kurylo, dancers, and Messrs. Magness Fisher and Conrad Layton, tenor and baritone respectively. The shows given by the "Powder Puffs" in other cities in the Far East, most recently in Hongkong, have pleased the critics unanimously and it is predicted that they will score well at the Olympic here.

Local Tobacco Man Tenders Banquet To Visiting Merchants

A banquet was given at the Carlton Cafe last evening by Mr. Cheang Park-chew, president of the Wing Tai Vo Tobacco Corporation, in honor of Mr. Yang Tze-sau and Mr. Hsu Yu-jik, of the Laou Tien Ho Company, of Mukden.

The affair was attended by many local men prominent in the tobacco business, including many of the officials of the British-American Tobacco Company.

CURIO BAZAAR OPENS WITH BANG ACROSS THE WAY

Business "Too Roughly" Elsewhere So New Location Is Secured

To the somewhat lachrymose lilt of "Swanee River" and the more militant strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers," rendered by an extremely brass band, "The Exchange Association of Curios, Ancient Paintings, Pearls, Bronze and Jade Wares" had its official opening yesterday at 216-B Canton Road, just opposite this office.

In its printed announcement the Exchange, etc., states that it has been established for more than ten years, with headquarters in a tea shop on Canton Road and that the curio merchants encompassed in its workings have decided to organise anew and to begin operations as from yesterday in the new quarters. A special discount on goods sold is announced as in effect for one month, the premises to be open for business from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

At the opening yesterday, which was attended mostly by curio brokers, of whom there are said to be over 5,000 in Shanghai, some exquisite jade carvings and other stone ornaments were shown, but it was explained that the real show of art objects will begin as from today.

The new quarters are in the nature of a bazaar and club, where the principal dealers will meet daily and where stocks will be displayed. One of the spokesmen at the function yesterday stated that the curio dealers have in mind the acquisition of an entire building in the near future.

"We move from teahouse," said he, "because business too roughly there."

Which statement left the inquirer in a more or less unsettled state of mind, the more especially as the band at that juncture erupted into "John Brown's Body."

SALVAGING CLAIM GRANTED IN PART IN COURT RULING

Award Made To Plaintiffs Who Saved Timber Set Adrift In Whangpoo By Typhoon

Decision was given yesterday in the British Supreme Court by Registrar G. W. King in the suit of Mr. H. Hansen and Mr. H. B. Charlesworth against the China Import and Export Lumber Company for the recovery of compensation for salvaging work gratitously performed when the two plaintiffs saved a quantity of lumber adrift in the Whangpoo when the typhoon of August 6 was sweeping over the city. The court made an award of $50 to Mr. Hansen and Mr. Charlesworth.

The plaintiffs sought to claim $203 for their services besides $63 for coolie line, and sampans that were hired to rescue the lumber, 80 cents for ricsha hire and $1.40 for refreshments. There was also a claim for motor lorry hire, which was not allowed by the Registrar. A decree for the other items in the bill was given, making a total of $115.20.

Mr. King, in giving judgment, remarked that it was the first case of the kind that he knew. He found himself, therefore, in an strange position and had great difficulty in assessing damages as no cases in support could be found.

Mr. Mancel Reece, who appeared for the defendants, said the work that the plaintiffs were charging the defendants for was gratuitous. The defendants had offered them $100 which was declined. The offer of the defendants was merely a gratuity, and the claim was out of all proportions. The lumber recovered from the Whangpoo was valued at Tls. 479. The claim of the plaintiffs, he characterised, was the highest for salvage ever made in the history of law

Mr. Tycho Wing replied that the work done by his clients was arduous and the claim, in view of the long hours put in, was reasonable.

The inland cruise was conducted by Mr. A. C. Ellis secretary of the Navy Y.M.C.A. here, which organisation has been outdoing itself in the way of arranging entertainment features for the gobs ever since the destroyer flotilla struck the Whangpoo. A special car took the party to Soochow and brought them back last night by the 9:30 express.

Virginia tobacco is best for cigarettes

Unlike most other tobaccos, Virginia is fine in texture and golden yellow in colour. The tender, delicate Virginia leaf is never rank or heavy but always cool and mellow and fragrant. Tobacco men say it is the best cigarette tobacco in the world.

Old Mill Cigarettes are made of high grade Virginia tobacco and nothing else. That's why they taste so good.

HURON BEATS DESTROYERS; TACKETT STRIKES OUT 18

By Westa

Dissler stole second

THE HOORON, as previously hinted at in these columns, is a crafty bird. In fact it is doubtful if in all of the class Aves there is any other bird as resourceful and intelligent as the Hooron. He goes on the theory that the bean is more useful than the beak. "Why," he asks, "should a bird with brains in his head waste valuable time and useless effort in a futile chase of the agile grasshopper when the succulent cantaloupe is ripening on the vine? Why should one agit or his elbow and his biceps when the cerebrum and likewise the cerebellum are itching for action?"

And what a beautiful philosophy that is, when you come to think about it. On that principle, assuming a fair degree of concentration and application, each and every one of us could be bankers and captains of industry instead of plodding bookkeepers and lowly wheelbarrow coolies. It's all a mere matter of putting the old cerebrum and cerebellum to work, instead of depending on the biceps, as, foolishly, so many of us do.

Well, to get back to the Hooron, he is, as stated, an intelligent bird. Take yesterday, for instance.

Yesterday the Hooron found himself confronted by a new enemy—one that he had never seen before, and about whom he knew nothing. Did he proceed to overcome this new foe in the regular, orthodox, old fashioned manner? Not he! Not the Hooron!

CROSSING THEM

"These guys," the Hoorons said to each other in the council of war before the battle started, "will go in there in the confident expectation that every ball will come sailing over the plate in the regular, established, accustomed, old fashioned horizontal plane. So therefore we will just tie them into a knot by putting in our famous Mutt and Jeff battery—Mutt, the tall guy, pitching and Jeff, the sawed off, behind the bat."

And that is precisely what they did. Mr. Tackett, who stands six feet four in his brogans, went in to pitch, with Watson, who is so short you wouldn't see him unless you looked twice, as his catcher.

Result: the tall Tackett's swooped down across the plate perpendicularly, that being the only way he could think of to get them into the dimunitive Watson's mitt, and as this was the exact opposite of what the opposition was looking for Mr. Tackett, in precise accordance with the prearranged plans of the Hooron board of strategy, set eighteen of the enemy down on strikes. In other words he whiffed a dozen and a half of them. Twelve and six of them struck out. A score of them, lacking only a single pair, fanned the breeze. Two thirds of the opposition batters walked up to the biscuit, took three healthies at the circumambient, and walked right back to the dugout.

HOW IT WORKED OUT

I trust you get the drift of what I am driving at, and that you will see the beauty and logic of the Hooron strategy.

The score was 4 to 3.

Despite the fact that Tackett, the Huron speed merchant, set eighteen of the Destroyer outfit down on strikes it was a rattling good game and just about as close as the score indicates. Keenan, the youngster who pitched for the Squadron, is a neat workman himself, and while he didn't whiff as many as his elongated opponent he was fully as effective otherwise, and with the same kind of support that was back of Tackett the game would have been going yet.

Scymanski, as usual, was closely identified with the run that meant victory for his team. In the eighth Skee got to first by grace of a desperate slide when Smith, the Destroyer second baseman, juggled his grounder, and stole second a minute later reaching the bag by sliding under the throw from the catcher. He went to third on a short passed ball, that being the only part of the circuit he didn't have to fight for, and raced home when Flowers drove out a fly to left.

That was the one big run necessary to win, the way the rival twirlers were going.

The Destroyer bunch had a final chance to tie or win in their half of the ninth. Coakley started it by drawing a base on balls, and Brown, batting for Keenan singled. That put two on with none down, but Tackett tightened, striking out Klepper, Sanchez and Carroll in a row.

The box score:

Baseball Today!

There will be a baseball game at the racetrack today between the Destroyer team and the nine from the Blackhawk. On Saturday and Sunday Maloney's Maulers will tackle the sailors again, although definite announcements are not possible as yet, owing to the fact that there is some uncertainty as to the movement of the naval vessels.

Hankow Woman Swims The Yangtsze

Mrs. Little of Hankow is the first lady to swim across the Yangtsze, according to the Central China Post.

The following is from the Oct. 2nd issue of The Post: Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Little started from Messrs. Butterfield & Swire's town jetty to swim across the Yangtsze.

After both making a good start Mr. Little, owing to the cold, gave up the attempt when about two-thirds across the river.

Mrs. Little, however, kept on in great style and managed to get to the other ide, making a landing in the neighborhood of the Canton-Hankow Railway residences.

Mrs. Little's fine swim constitutes a record, she being the first lady, so far as is known, to have swum across the Yangtsze.

GIANTS VICTORS IN WORLD SERIES, YANKS SWAMPED

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 9.—Miller Huggins ordered Joe Bush, premier Yankee hurler, to pass Young in the eighth inning of yesterday's game and take a chance on George Kelly, the Giants' first sacker. The walk filled the bases. Then Kelly singled. This broke up the game and gave the Giants their second world's title in as many years. The Yankees were beaten 5-3, the National Leaguers getting to Bush for ten clean bingles.

Huggins is blamed for the defeat that meant a world's series in straight games, the first time the feat has been performed since the Boston Braves went through to four straight victories and a world title after ending the season with 17 straight wins, climbing from seventh to first place in the National League.

The Yankee manager was scored on all sides today for insisting that Bush take a chance on Kelly with the score tied and the bases full. Kelly's single chased two runs across and these were the winning tallies.

The Yankees got but five hits in the final game of the series.

Baseball Notes

BY WESTA

Keenan, the Squadron pitcher, is a fine workman, and deserved better luck. He held the hard hitting Hurons to five blows, and except for a muff of a thrown ball by Locker, which gave Dissler life at first on which he scored later, he would have got a tie, at least. He didn't strike out as many as Tackett, but he was a trifle more tight fisted when it came to allowing hits, giving five against the Huron flingers six. He gave no bases on balls.

Some of the sharps along the first base line thought that Locker recovered the ball which popped out of his hands in time to retire Dissler. He recovered the ball in time, but in stretching for it he pulled his heel off the bag a couple of inches, and that was just the margin by which Dissler got the decision.

Maloney was out there again. One time Mal was down in Central America and a bunch of generals came around and informed him that they had just concluded a war among themselves, but couldn't decide which one to make president of the country, and offered him the job as a compromise candidate at a salary of $50,000 a year, with palace rent, automobiles, servants, etc., thrown in. Mal accepted, and great preparations were made for the inauguration ceremony. But on the big day that he was to have been installed in office Mal was not to be found. Extensive searches were made, and as the law of the country required that the candidate had to be installed on that particular day the generals finally selected another candidate for the job. Later it was discovered that Mal had heard about some natives who had learned to play baseball, using coconuts in lieu of a regular horsehide, and as the final battle for the championship was to be played that day he sneaked away from the capital and hurried to the game, thus missing an opportunity to become one of the world's greatest statesmen. "Politics," says Mal, "mean nothing in my young life—not when there's a ball game in sight."

Scymanski was batting from the "Protestant" side yesterday, and didn't do very well, as he failed to connect in four times up.

The destroyers that are here now are not the same ones that were in port last summer, those divisions having sailed to the States direct from Chefoo.

S.R.C. FOOTBALL CLUB SELECTS YEAR'S OFFICERS

At the meeting of the S.R.C. Football Club on Monday Mr. T. Wade was elected Captain for the coming season, Mr. E. F. Mears vice-captain and Mr. W. J. L. Hughes League representative. They, with Dicky Brandt, will form the Football Sub-Committee.

It was decided by the meeting that the former subscription of $5 for the season for football members be made $10, plus $5 entrance for new members.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. E. E. Lever, president, and there were present Messrs. R. P. Phillips, H. Veitch, J. L. Wade and C. E. Thompson, honorary secretary and about thirty members.

In reviewing the events of the last year, the chairman said they all remembered what a poor season they had. Seven teams entered the First and eight teams the Second League, and although they came out second in the major League both competitions were captured by the Football Club.

The Skottowe Cup was won by the Public School, although they were entered as Second Leaguers, they nevertheless did exceedingly well by annexing the trophy.

In closing the chairman said he had much pleasure in welcoming back to the Club an old member—Mr. E. Turner—who had had quite a lot of practise while in England.

VETERAN PONIES STAGE HARD-FOUGHT CONTESTS ON COURSE AT KIANGWAN

Results Of Coming Big Races Foreshadowed In Finishes Yesterday—Three More Meetings Yet To Be Held In October

Outstanding events of yesterday's racing program at Kiangwan were The Commemoration Stakes, fifth race, and The Republican Cup, ninth and closing race of the card, for these two events, one at a mile and a quarter and the other at a mile and a half, brought out a number of first string veteran ponies and in the finishes recorded may be foreshadowed results of some of the major events of the approaching big Fall meeting.

Marking the observance of the Chinese national holiday a throng that nearly filled the huge new grandstand at Kiangwan with its seating capacity of seven thousand was out for yesterday's races. A brisk north wind quartering the home stretch carried an edged tang which was tempered, however, by brilliant sunshine. The course was firm and fast and while in the course of the program some exceptional racing was provided with spurts and hard finishes a-plenty, track records remained intact through the day. The general run of dividend payments held to normal level though several upsets developed when favorites failed to make good.

THE FIFTH RACE

The mile and a quarter Commemoration Stakes shaped into a contest of the first order of merit, Mr. Henry Morries' Maresfield, winner of last season's Shanghai Champions and ridden yesterday by Mr. Heard, ranked as favorite in this race while the second choice expectations of pari-mutuel devotees were fixed upon Salvation, ridden by Mr. A. N. Dallas. Nationalist, ridden by Mr. Brand, was figured for third place before the race. As the summaries show Nationalist, Maresfield and Thomas a'Becket finished in the order given under a blanket with scarcely a length separating the first and third ponies. Though Salvation staged a gallant effort after the pace had been set most of the distance by Mr. Vida on Darting, the pony failed to score place.

In the ninth race over a mile and a half Crowborough, ridden by Mr. Springfield, and South Down, ridden by Mr. Brand, ran a dead heat for first place, the

TIME & CHANGE

Time has had its effects on most things It has not, however seen any change in the quality of the "Three Castles" Cigarettes.

Away back in the early days of the tobacco industry, the manufacturers of this famous cigarette were noted for the purity, flavour, and fragrance of their product. Those standards have been maintained, and to-day there is no better Virginia cigarette than "Three Castles."

two finishing well ahead of Letchfield, ridden by Mr. Heard. In this event Letchfield, Kings Cross and South Down had been played as favorites in the order given.

A full measure of diversion is to be afforded to race followers through the rest of October, for following the fifth extra meeting of the Shanghai Race Club on the Bubbling Well course next Saturday two more meetings will be held at Kiangwan this month preceding the big Fall meeting on the Shanghai course in the early part of November. The two meetings at Kiangwan will be held on October 21 and October 28. These will be the 92nd and 93rd meetings of the International Recreation Club and entries for them will close next Friday. Entries are to close today for the Fall meeting of the Shanghai Race Club.

MANDALAY DRAWS MANY TO BURMA

Taxis Take Tourists To Holy Places Of Bud- M ism MM

WHERE KIPLING ERRED

No Flying Fishes Near And China Not 'Just Across The Bay'

Mandalay, Burma, Sept. 19.—With its thousand pagodas, its deserted palaces and its picturesque ruins, the city of Mandalay continues to be a place of chief attraction for the European or American visitor to Burma.

The palace grounds, surrounded by a wall and moat, are about a mile and a half square. The buildings have a cheap gaudiness about them which compares in many ways to that of an American street carnival. Still preserved are the throne rooms and the apartments of the king, the senior queen and numerous junior queens. Mindon Min, the next to last king of Burma, married fifty-seven wives—seeking, evidently, to discover what the "57 varieties" are like.

From the palace grounds an American taxi takes the visitor to the foot of Mandalay hill, one of the holy places of Burma Buddhism. Here those who are adherents of the Buddhist religion and are willing to remove their footwear may obtain great merit by climbing the nearly 400 steps which lead to the summit.

The zayats (rest houses) built at the foot of the hill are interesting chiefly on account of the pictures which appear along the walls. Most of these depict supposed incidents in the life of Gautama Buddha and provide good instances of an inconsistency which is typical of Burmans. Though Buddha was an Indian he is always pictured in Burmese clothes. And though he lived about 500 years before the time of Christ, electric lights and electric fans are to be seen in the same room with him.

Arakan pagoda, on the other side of the city, presents a striking appearance by its being plastered over with gold leaf. The image housed here was stolen and carried away from Arakan by the Burmans in 1784. It was cast during the reign of a king who succeeded to the throne of Arakan in the year A. D. 146. The old Burman kings used to try to please Buddha by making war on their neighbors, carrying off, as the fruits of victory, all the images they could find.

Mandalay has been dwindling in population since it ceased to be the capital of Burma. People say that every other man in town is a monk, and one out in the street early in the morning would almost believe that this is true. There are usually several yellow gowns and black begging bowls for each block. Although there are already more than 1,000 pagodas in and about the city, new ones are now in process of construction.

Many Americans have been confused as to the exact location of Mandalay by a couple of geographical errors, which occur in Kipling's well known song. It could hardly be "where the flying fishes play," when the sea is over a hundred miles distant. And China isn't "just across the bay," but is just across the mountains instead. Just across the bay is India.

Maritime Co. Shooting

The October Monthly Cup Competition of the Maritime Company, S.V.C., was held at the Rifle Range on Monday morning when fourteen officers and men participated in the shoot at which the new Mark 111 rifles were tried out.

"I take what I want"

Such was the Sea Wolf's creed. And in his brutal hands were this girl and the rich young idler who loved her.

Then struggle, storm, mutiny; scene after scene of thrilling adventure never equalled by another writer of the sea. Till, fighting for the girl, the idler became a man.

"The World and his Wife" is a romantic drama of old Spain, adapted from a play by the most popular of all modern Spanish dramatists.

The play has already been translated to the American stage and had a successful Broadway engagement for a whole season some years ago.

In its motion picture form "The World and his Wife" has all the dash and color of romantic Spain.

Experienced contractors wishing to tender for the construction works may on or after the 16th October, obtain copies of the plans, specification, Conditions of Contract and Form of Tender by written application to the Architects.

Messrs. Stewardson & Spence,
22 Yuen Ming Yuen Road,
Shanghai.

Only Contractors with experience in the construction of large reinforced concrete buildings of the Public or Office Building class should apply, and a list of such buildings recently carried out should be enclosed by the applicants.

Applications should be accompanied by a deposit of Tls. 50, which amount will be refunded on receipt of a bona fide tender by the due date or on return of the plans and specifications within a week.

The Contractor whose tender may be selected for the works will be required to make a deposit in approved securities or to find two reliable guarantors for the due performance of the Contract.

The time in which Contractors undertake to complete the building will be taken into consideration in the selection of a tender.

Tenders addressed as indicated on the forms provided must be delivered at the Office of the undersigned in sealed covers marked "Tender for District Head Post Office building, Shanghai," by or before noon on the 31st October, 1922.

The Postal Administration does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender. No payment will be made for expenses incurred in tendering.

By Order of the Co-Director General,
C. H. SHIELDS,
Postal Commissioner.

NEW AMERICAN BANKS TO OFFER LONGER CREDITS

Federal Banking Corporation To Open Branches

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Oct. 9.—A San Francisco telegram dated October 8 states that Mr. Charles J. Fox, Editor of the North China Star, on October 2, made public the following statment:

"I have a plan to establish in various parts in China branches of the Federal Banking Corporation immediately upon my return to Tientsin. The bank has already been sanctioned by the Central Banking Group in the United States, and will establish its head office in San Francisco with several branches in various places in China. The main object of the bank is to further American trade with China. Great Britain, France and Japan have many banks in China and these banks, taking advantage of the fact that the branches of American banks in China limit the term of credit only ninety days according to various kinds of laws of the United States, are offering long term credits with the result that they are doing their business quite actively.

"Now, the American banks in China, which act on the new law of the United States of America, are in such a position as to further American trade with China without any competition with the rest of American banks in that country."

STORMS AT CHERBOURG

(China Press Service)

Cherbourg, Oct. 10.—Heavy storms and high seas during the last two days caused considerable damage to the port. The construction work on the new breakwater and docks was partially wrecked. No loss of life has been reported thus far.

Fukien Tuchun Asks $500,000

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct 9.—In response to an urgent request from Admiral Tu Hsi-kuei 500 marines attached to the Ministry of the Navy left for Fukien today. The Government is still considering the proposal to put Admiral Sah Chen-ping and Admiral Tu Hsi-kuei in charge of the Fukien situation.

It is reported that General Li Hou-chi called a meeting of influential residents of Foochow on October 6 and appealed to them to raise $500,000 for war funds.

A skirmish is reported to have taken place at Kutien, General Li Hou-chi's troops driving back General Wang Yung-chuan's 50 th. The only casualties mentioned are one of General Wang's officers killed. General Wang's forces abandoned a mountain-gun.

General Hsu Chung-chih's troops are said to be planning a maneuver against Foochow via Santuao, Luyuanhsien and Lingkonghien. The Foochow army is understood to be awaiting the co-operation of General Wang Chih-hsien, who is on his way to help General Li Hou-chi.

One Strike Ends, Another Started

(Reuter's Service)

Marseilles, Oct. 9.—The dockers and coal-trimmers of Marseilles have decided on an immediate strike.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—A fresh strike of the workers in the port on the question of wages began today. All work in the port has ceased.

Bordeaux, Oct. 9.—The seamen's strike is at an end. All the strikers have agreed to sail under the new conditions.

LOW RECORD FOR MARKS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 9.—A new low record for the mark was registered in London today, the closing quotation being 12,600. The slump is due to heavy continental selling, following on wider recognition that Germany is largely meeting reparations payments by the sale of huge quantities of paper marks abroad.

Canton Gets Big British Bank Loan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 9.—In spite of a denial by the Civil Governor, Mr. Chan Chik-yu, the Commissioner of Finance, Mr. Chung Hsiao-nan, today informed the Provincial Assembly that the Canton Government had tentatively accepted a British bankers' loan of £2,000,000 at 87½ with interest at seven percent, repayable in 10 years, with the Tobacco and Wine Tax of Kwangtung as security. The loan, of which one-fourth would be available within 30 days, another fourth after 60 days and the balance within six months, was for purposes of currency reform, namely, providing a reserve for the existing depreciated Government notes, strengthening the condition of the Provincial Bank, and improving the equipment of the Mint, thus enabling the Government to operate the Mint itself.

BRITISH ENVOY, SOON TO LEAVE, DINED AT PEKING

Sir Beilby Alston Is Guest Of Anglo-American Society

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 6.—A large number of Members of the Anglo-American Association attended the luncheon given at the Grand Hotel des Wagon-Lits today in honor of Sir Beilby Alston. Mr. M. B. Weatherall, who presided, referred to the general regret felt at the impending departure of Sir Beilby Alston, particularly for the loss of health which necessitated his departure from China, continuing: "Our Association exists to foster Anglo-American relations, and I think Sir Beilby must be gratified that never have they been so cordial, and never has such complete agreement existed as throughout his tenure of office. All the residents of Peking who have met Sir Beilby will, I am sure, long retain the memory of his charm of manner and of the universal kindness with which he has treated us all. Peking will retain lasting, pleasant memories of him. I hope he will retain lasting pleasant memories of Peking."

The American Minister, Dr. Schurman, in an eloquent speech, expressed regret that Sir Beilby was soon to leave Peking, and referred in a most kindly manner to his association with his British colleagues.

In replying Sir Beilby Alston said that he was sorry for many reasons to leave Peking, of which he would retain very pleasant memories indeed. He thanked the Association for the entertainment and the very cordial manner in which the Members had expressed their good feeling towards him and trusted that the Association would continue to prosper.

SOOCHOW OPENS FALL TERM WITH 521 REGISTERED

Enrollment This Year Largest In School's History

(China Press Correspondence)

Soochow, Oct. 5.—Soochow University opened the fall term with the largest enrollment in its history. The total to date is five hundred and twenty one. The enrollment is apportioned as follows: Junior College 141, Senior College 62, Middle School 253 and Preparatory School 65. The authorities are especially gratified at the gain in the College Department.

The teaching staff has been strengthened by the coming of new recruits: Dr. S. H. Lowrie, Phd., Columbia University will arrive in January to take over the Department of Sociology, Dr. Lowrie comes to this task well equipped to do the work. He understands his field and has had extensive work as a teacher.

Mrs. S. H. Lowrie, M. A., Columbia University, is working in the Department of College English. Mrs. Lowrie was associated with Dr. Lowrie in their work at Columbia University. She is an experienced teacher and is already making a place for herself in Soochow University. She preceded her husband several months in order to be in China for the fall opening of Soochow University.

Miss Anne Valentine, M. A., University of Chicago, is also in the Department of College English. She comes to the University having had large experience in the schools of New York city.

Miss Beck, B.A., University of Colorado, is in the Department of Preparatory English. She comes to Soochow after several years experience teaching in the east.

Mr. Lester Shipley, B.S., Virginia Polytechnic, is associate Professor in Mathematics. Mr. Shipley is the son of Dr. J. A. G. Shipley, Shanghai and has had much practical experience in America.

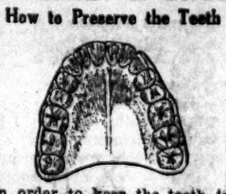
Mr. Arthur Jacobsen, B. A., University of Montana, is to take up the work of Bursar. Mr. Jacobsen is especially trained for this work and has had much experience in office work.

In June of this year Dr. J. W. Cline resigned the Presidency of Soochow University and Dr. W. B. Nance was elected to fill this vacancy. Dr. Nance has had many years experience in Educational work in the East and has been head of the Department of Philosphy in Soochow University.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees five Chinese members were added to the body, Mr. C. C. Nieh, Dr. C. W. Loh, Dr. C. T. Lea, Rev. Z. T. Kaung, and Dr. Y. L. Sz and a plan for the reorganization of the administrative staff will be carried out during the year.

KINGMAN & BROS.

How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental perioststis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Strange Doings In Manchuria

BY JOSEF W. HALL

WHILE the Soviet Envoy extraordinary and would-be Minister Plenipotentiary lies fighting for his life in the German Hospital in Peking, comment concerning the Russo-Japanese Conference which broke up the day upon which Mr. Joffe took to his bed grows daily more acrid. The rupture is regarded by some as inevitable, by others as inscrutable and by yet others as premeditated. A growing suspicion exists as to the sincerity of the whole affair.

Some things connected with the meeting do, it must be admitted, give grounds for questioning. In the first place the representatives of the press, by determined insistence of the Japanese, were absolutely excluded from the Conference, although a number had gone from Peking and other distant places at Japanese invitation. The bulletins issued by the two delegations differed constantly. The Russian attitude is not regarded on all sides as sincere. The position taken regarding the Nikolaievsk massacre may have been an opportunity rather than a necessity for breaking the Conference.

And if the statement of Mr. Yanson to an American agent in Chita be true, the implied confession that false explanations of the break-up were countenanced by the Russian delegation makes matters all the more suspicious. What puzzles the layman most of all is the apparent content of both parties at the outcome.

Again, while Mr. Matsudaira and his colleagues were offering the Allied ammunition stores in Vladivostok to the Chita government in event of agreement, quantities of these same stores were under transportation, with, of necessity, the cognisance of Japanese authorities, and, one Japanese paper charges, their collaboration, to Chang Tso-lin in Mukden. Apparently the munitions arrived by sea at Antung and other ports where the customs officials are Japanese, in Japanese vessels, and were transported to the Chinese chieftain's capital over a Japanese railroad. The bulk of the stores, which were recently condemned as unsafe by an American expert, were, it is said, taken out to sea and sunk, but this report is as yet unconfirmed.

The Japanese government, of course, was not directly responsible for the shipment, nor, except in a negative way, were the Japanese authorities at Vladivostok, who allowed the stores, which were under their custody, to be moved. It is doubtful if the delegation at Changchun was aware of it. The shipment was made by order of General Deterichs, at the present moment Chief of the Russian White forces and ruler of Vladivostok. It was made in pursual of a pact between the Whites and Chang Tso-lin whereby these two parties, both more or less outlawed, agree to give each other aid and comfort in the event of hostilities on the part of either with its potential enemy; and to collaborate toward the eventual formation of a Central Asian Empire incorporating Manchuria, the Maritime and Amur provinces of Siberia, Mongolia and perhaps Chinese Turkestan. So far as Chang Tso-lin is concerned, this latter, of course, is all bait, but meanwhile he is getting his army trained by Russian officers and outfitted in part by stores supplied by the kindly Whites.

Are the Japanese, who are evacuating Siberia (if we may trust their reports, their civilians as well as military are getting out at the insistent demand of British Labor and the American Senate, and perhaps, as many suspect, in keeping with an understanding with the Soviet not reached at Changchun) guilty of violation of the arms embargo agreement in allowing munitions still in their custody to go into the hands of a Chinese warlord? If so, ds virtuous old Uncle Sam, who manufactured most of the munitions in question, brought them to Siberia on a wild-cat expedition and shunted the duty of disposing of them, equally guilty when he leaves cartridges where they can be turned over to Chinese by obliging and irresponsible Russians?

Truly there are strange things going on in Manchuria and Siberia today. When the Japanese forces are fully embarked we may expect them to take a more violent form. Of what is going on, and what is most likely to happen, the Japanese authorities are not ignorant; but can we blame them for keeping the knowledge to themselves, and, upon occasion, exploiting it?

The Weather

BY JEROME K. JEROME

It always is wretched weather, according to us. The weather is like the government, always in the wrong. In summer time we say it is stifling; in winter that it is killing in spring and autumn we find fault with it for being neither one thing nor the other, and wish it would make up its mind. If it is fair, we say the country is being ruined for want of rain; if it does rain, we pray for fine weather. If December passes without snow, we indignantly demand to know what has become of our good old-fashioned winters, and talk as if we were being cheated out of something we had bought and paid for; and when it does snow, our language is a disgrace to a Christian nation. We shall never be content until each man makes his own weather and keeps it to himself.

If that cannot be arranged we would rather do without it altogether.

Yet I think that it is only in cities that all weather is so unwelcome. In her own home, the country, Nature is sweet in all her moods. What can be more beautiful than the snow, falling big with mystery in silent softness, decking the fields and trees with white as if for a fairy wedding! And now delightful is a walk when the frozen ground rings beneath our swinging tread—when our blood tingles in the rare, keen air, and the sheep dog's distant bark and children's laughter peals faintly clear like Alpine bells across the open hills! And then skating! Scudding with wings of steel across the swaying ice making whirring music as we fly.

The very rain and sleet and hail seem Nature's useful servants, when found doing their simple duties in the country; and the East Wind himself is nothing worse than a boisterous friend when we meet him between the hedgerows.

GERMANS AND THE CUSTOMS SERVICE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir:—The question of the treatment extended to Germans formerly in the Chinese Maritime Customs has been discussed in the local press for some time past but, as far as I have been able to discover, nothing has been done to alleviate the pitiable circumstances in which most of these men find themselves today—today, four years after the cessation of hostilities in Europe and a year since the signing of the Sino-German Treaty.

There is not the slightest doubt, Mr. Editor, that 'Fair Play' has not characterised the manner in which young, middle-aged, and old Germans have been treated by the Chinese Government. The young men have been and are able to take care of themselves, but the middle-aged and particularly the old men, most of them with families, have existed since 1917 under the most distressing conditions.

These men had their "names removed from the (Service) list on declaration of war against Germany and Austria-Hungary by China" on August 16, 1917, and were paid off to that date, without notice, by the various commissioners on instructions issued by the Inspector-General of Customs at Peking, Sir Francis Aglen.

During the past four years appeals have been made time and again to the Inspector-General for re-instatement, but the Germans have invariably been informed by Sir Francis Aglen that there are no vacancies. It is well known that the Service was short-handed in 1918, 1919 and 1920 and even today it suffers from a lack of experienced men. Why not reinstate these Germans who have served in the Customs for ten, twenty, thirty and even forty years?

At the outbreak of war between China and France, Frenchmen in the Imperial Customs Service were relieved from duty. They were paid right through the Sino-French War and on the cessation of hostilities were almost immediately re-instated, not given vacancies or an opportunity to start in again at the bottom of the Service ladder. China set a precedent which cannot be overlooked and it is to be hoped that the Inspectorate-General of Customs will not ignore the precedent set up but a few decades back.

Germans employed on the Suez Canal work were discharged on the outbreak of war in 1914 but the elderly Germans discharged then were pensioned by the British authorities. I could cite other instances in which Germans got a "square deal," and it makes me wonder the more that Germans who have given of their best to qualify, by years of study of the Chinese language, etc., for the Customs Service and who have served faithfully for tens of years, are treated in such an unprecedentedly shameful manner in these most civilised of modern times.

Many of these Germans are past the age of sixty and were at the time of their "removal from the Service list" and have every claim to the pension now being paid to Customs officers who attain that age. Unfortunately for many of these Germans, no age limit was in force in 1917, otherwise many of the Germans "removed" would today be enjoying the pension they deserve after their long years of service in the Chinese Maritime Customs.

Undoubtedly, a little antagonism against the re-instatement of Germans must be felt by Customs men as this would to some extent retard their promotion, but this feeling will surely be dispelled by the realisation that what is being done to the Germans today may fail to their lot tomorrow. Moreover, the sense of fair play attributed to British cannot deny the solidity of the grounds on which the Germans base their appeal for re-instatement and pensions.

I am sure Inspector-General of Customs Sir Francis Aglen cannot have given much attention to this question. His time is more than taken up by his many duties, both in regard to the Inspectorate-General of Customs and the service of the many loans he conducts, and this may account for the non-application of fair play in the case of German ex-members of the Chinese Maritime Customs.

I am confident that there are many not directly interested who would like to see a square deal given these Germans. I trust, therefore, that you will grant me the hospitability of your columns to suggest that Mr. C. P. Dawson, veteran of Chief Tidesurveyors, now retired, take up this matter with the Inspectorate-General at Peking. Mr. Dawson enjoys the respect of, and has considerable standing with, the Service men here and were he to take up the matter with them, and with their backing approach Peking, the Inspectorate-General would undoubtedly see its way to remedying its treatment of former German employes in a manner satisfactory to all. Thanking you for your courtesy in publishing this letter, I am, Gratefully yours,

M.

COMMERCIALISED VICE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—With reference to Mr. Crofoot's letter in your issue of today, wherein he asks whether anybody can bring forward a scheme that has been shown to be more effective in controlling disease than the suppression of commercialised vice I beg to draw his attention to the work of the Society for the Prevention of Venereal Disease which advocates the practice of immediate self-disinfection.

This simple and inexpensive measure has been shown by the experiences of Dr. Archdall Reid and others to be surprisingly effective and it is simply the short-sighted and reactionary policy of the Ministry of Health which has so far prevented its official adoption in England. It is opposed on supposedly moral grounds, the argument being that men will lose all self-restraint once they are assured that the risk of contracting disease is negligible. The lesson of history as a matter of fact is that no appreciable number of men have ever been deterred by this risk. A person under the influence of passion rarely thinks of the consequences and in any case he is willing to take a chance.

This is an aspect of the problem which the Moral Welfare League do not seem to have touched. It would be interesting to know their attitude. We all agree that absolute suppression of irregular relations is the ideal way but surely as practical men we must not rely on counsels of perfection which we know are not applicable to the world in which we live. Those who are interested I would recommend to read Marie Stopes little book, "Truth about Venereal Disease." Yours faithfully,

"FACE THE FACTS."

THE MILLENNIUM, ETC.

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—I have been profoundly impressed with the different inquiries in the press of late relative to the exact date of the arrival of Christ and the correct time for planting carrots. I would be forever grateful if you or any of your correspondents would inform me of the whereabouts of an institution wnere a bachelor or a grass-widower could have his socks surveyed and repaired and also where one could have the residue of one's wardrobe, dry-docked and reclassed, buttons reriveted etc., without any unnecessary risk to one's Moral Welfare. I am, yours faithfully,

Cox Back From Europe Demands End Of Isolation

New York, Sept. 10.—James M. Cox has been confirmed in the views about the League of Nations, which he expressed as the Democratic standard bearer in the last national campaign by what he has seen in Europe during an eight weeks' tour of intensive investigation, during which he motored 4,000 miles. He returned yesterday on the French Line steamship France, determined to enter the Congressional campaign this Fall and to condemn the policy of what he terms "inglorious isolation" pursued by this country under the Harding Administration.

"Our international policy is closely interlocked with our domestic problems, he said. "The fact is that America has been standing still these two years. President Harding and his Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, seem unable to see beyond our own shores."

He said that Germany, too, was anxious to enter the League of Nations, but would not do so unless the United States entered. "Chancellor Wirth," ex-Governor Cox added, "made this statement to me in Berlin: 'We will join the League the very day the United States comes in.'"

Mr. Cox was asked if Chancellor Wirth had told him why Germany was laying down this condition for her entry into the League of Nations.

"I do not feel at liberty to elaborate on the Chancellor's statement in any way, but I should judge that the German leaders feel that their country would have a better chance of fair treatment from the other powers represented in the League if America was represented in it."

Reparations, Mr. Cox declared, was the most pressing question before the world and one calling for early solution in the interest of the economic rehabilitation of Europe, especially Central Europe. This country, he added, holds the key to a proper settlement of that question and could not in conscience or consistent with its best interests remain unrepresented much longer on the Reparation Commission. He continued:

"Europe is waiting for the United States to take its place on the commission which will settle the crucial problem of reparations. When I proposed that Hoover be sent to Europe to investigate conditions on behalf of the United States and that the United States assume the leadership and become the mediator of the reparations problem, the proposal was not only accepted but was received with the utmost enthusiasm in the Chancelleries at London, Paris and Berlin.

"It was generally indorsed by the press. It was stated to me that America would be in a position to break the existing deadlock between France and Germany over reparations because America's decision would be accepted to the satisfaction of France, whether the prosperity of Germany, of which we have heard so much, is real or merely a figment of the French imagination. Europe knows Hoover and trusts him. And Hoover is part of the present National Administration. And such action would not involve any departure from the policy established by the Harding Administration with relation to our entering or staying out of the League itself.

"I found in Europe—and I speak more particularly about Germany and Central Europe—abundant willingness to work and sacrifice in order that a new prosperity may be built upon the ruins of the past," ex-Governor Cox added. "But this cannot be done until order has taken the place of the economic chaos that now prevails and a basis has been established for future credits. Always when attempting to solve this equation you come to the same point—reparations.

"Here is the psychology I have discovered in regard to the reparations problem. The deadlock is chiefly between Germany and France. England will agree to any reasonable agreement these two powers succeed in working out. But England cannot settle the problem and is not in a position to bring pressure to bear on France for the purpose of bringing about a settlement because, unfortunately, there exists in France a great deal of anti-British feeling. And, suppose Germany should mention a figure which may represent the very amount that in the back of the French mind is regarded as reasonable but had not been articulated by France, then the French statesmen could hardly afford to accept, because it would be regarded by the French public as a concession to Germany, the hereditary enemy. There is where America's participation in the work of the Reparation Commission would make a radical difference.

Germany, to get on her feet, must have a big loan but cannot make it until the question of reparation has been settled. The same applies to Austria. While in Vienna I was assured by the leaders of the three most important political parties—the Social Democrats, the Christian Socialists and the Pan-Germanists—that if, with reparation setfied, Austria could obtain a loan, they would form a coalition government to carry out to the letter all and any conditions established when it was granted, including balancing budgets.

"Chancellor Wirth says that unless something is done to settle the reparation problems, Germany and all of Central Europe must go to smash, and he adds that only America can bring about a proper settlement. Should the collapse he predicts come then France, already in a bad way, would get nothing, which would leave her in still worse shape to add to the confusion that already exists. The depreciation of the currency of Germany and other nations in Central Europe is a sympton carrying an ominous warning of approaching collapse which may engulf the world, for this is a world problem.

"If financial aid should be extended to Germany and other needy countries, would it be possible to prevent the use of any of the money for armament purposes?" Mr. Cox was asked.

"Such loans, if made," he replied, "would carry as one condition that the budgets of countries so aided must be made to balance. That would mean of necessity a reduction in armament, Germany for that matter is already disarmed, and I believe that it would prove exceedingly difficult to drag Germany, France or any Western power into war in the near future upon any pretext whatsoever."

Ex-Governor Cox asked about the League said it is carrying out many useful and essential functions that could be carried out by no other body and is carrying them out in a manner to inspire general confidence and encourage the settlement of controversies by peaceful means.

"What jurists and statesmen dreamed of for years the League has established in this International Court of Justice," he said. "The League and the principle out of which it grew need no defenders. The fact that the League is a going concern is one of the most impressive demonstrations of the practicability of the basic scheme of the League itself.

"The United States will become a member of it, of course. That is as certain as the coming of day. League has lived without us and withstood the storms and stress and the campaign of misrepresentation. We will come in, not only as a matter of duty and service but of self-interest as well. In those circumstances we will enter with a well formed and understanding public opinion. Then it will cease to be a political issue. Whatever conditions America sees fit to impose conscientiously the other members beyond question will accept."

Mr. Cox added that the Irish Free State, as soon as its Constitution had been ratified by its Parliament and concurred in by England, would enter the League of Nations.

"Both Mr. Collins and Mr. Griffith were firm believers in the plan, and I understand that their successors are equally in favor of it," he added. Asked about the inter-allied debt, Mr. Cox said:

"The Balfour statement made recently was not well received in England. The Earl is highly respected by his countrymen, but he did not express their sentiments. Not a single person in England with whom I discussed the matter agreed with Balfour.

"England wants to pay what she owes. I should not be surprised, however, if, when she does it, she proposes to us that all remaining obligations to both the United States and England be canceled. In that event we need not guess twice as to what we will have to do. The Administration at Washington, in its insistence on full payment all around must have evolved some economic system which upsets the experience and preconceptions of the past. Foreign countries cannot pay in gold because we have most of the world's gold supply. They cannot pay in goods because of the highest tariff ever known."

"Did Lloyd George give you to understand that England would make such a proposal?" Mr. Cox was asked.

"What one talks about with Premiers one must not tell elsewhere," he replied.

Discussing the issues of the Congressional campaign, Mr. Cox said:

"The Administration must answer to its sins of omission and commission. Conditions in America tell their own story. We have had two years of inglorious isolation. Now it is proposed, through the new Tariff law, to emphasise the situation and make it difficult for us to trade with any one. The tariff measure obviously was created as an affair of preference for the interests that helped to create the Republican campaign fund of 1920. The mass will suffer by it. The preferred few will profit.

"The international issue will be the failure of the Administration, both in the moral and unselfish view on the one hand and the practical or selfish view on the other to pariticipate in the economic affairs of the world. The economic unit is the world, not any one country. A part of it is close to collapse. America has a chance, without 'involvements' of any kind, without the question of sovereignty arising in any way, without raising the controverted proposal of the League of Nations, to end the deadlock, stabilise Europe and create a market for our farms and factories.

"Declining prices in America's products are largely due to the failure of the Administration to see beyond our own shores. There is nothing pressing for this moment in the question of the League of Nations. It is more important that economic order be established before we go into the matter of governmental association to promote peace. Re-establishment of prosperity must be given first place in our interest. After that is accomplished, the proposal of a world peace will automatically enforce itself upon the public attention."

Ex-Governor Cox was met at the pier by Mrs. Cox who had come out from their home in Dayton, Ohio, to welcome him. He has been away some ten weeks. He was accompanied on his tour, which took him far off the beaten tourist tracks by his friend, former Congressman Timothy T. Ansberry, now a resident of Washington, D. C.; his son, James M. Jr., and Ernest Hite of Dayton.

Judge Lobingier Rules On Tientsin Slander Case

Judge Charles S. Lobingier in the United States Court at Tientsin on Thursday upheld the two demurrers filed by counsel for the defendants in a Peitaiho slander suit that has attracted considerable attention in the North.

The suit was filed by Mary G. Rabenow, a Russian teacher, who charged that she had been slandered by Dr. Andrew H. Woods and Mrs. Pauline A. Grimes. She asked $5,000 damages and in the petition the names of many prominent North China people, including Mr. Lutz, manager of the Wagon-Lits Hotel in Peking, Col. Drysdale of the American Legation, Mr. Charles R. Crane, then American Minister to Peking, Lady Alston and others were mentioned.

By the decision Judge Lobingier finds that the plaintiff has not given evidence of having been slandered by the defendants and throws the case out of court. The judgment is as follows:

SYLLABUS

1.—Slander: Joinder: A complaint purporting to charge slander cannot join different defendants not alleged to be acting in concert.
2.—ID.: To constitute slander the words complained of must be "base and defamatory" and must tend to injure plaintiff in some substantial respect.
3.—ID.: Id.: A charge that defendant "influenced" others against plaintiff is not a sufficient averment of slander.

The complaint in this cause reads as follows:

"The Plaintiff complains of the Defendants and for cause of action alleges:

1. In August 1920 in Peitaiho at Mrs. Martin's (President of the American School Jonnju near Peking) the Defendant Mrs Grimes spoke maliciously in public of and concerning the plaintiff saying the plaintiff is immoral and a political refugee, what to the plaintiff means unfit to educate children.

2. In Dec. 28 or 29, 1920 the Defendant Dr. A. H. Woods said to Mr. Lutz (the manager of the Wagon-Lits Hotel in Peking) that plaintiff is ill and had to stay with the Defendent Dr. Woods. Defendant said it in order to hide the real situation of the Plaintiff.

3. Consequently in the first case plaintiff lost the offered situation in the Joonju School. In the second case plaintiff has been unable to find employment in Peking in spite of the evident untruth of these rumors.

The circumstances of the matter were as follows:

In August 1921 in Peitaiho called to see me Miss Bird (Principal of the American School Joonju near Peking) offering me the position as music teacher in her school. Miss Bird accepted my terms and promised to inform me in a week's time, saying she had to send our arrangement for confirmation. But she never gave me an answer and left Peitaiho. Before leaving Peitaiho I went for explantion to Mrs. Martin (President of the school) who knew about our arrangement. From Mrs. Martin I learnt that Mrs. Grimes has been trying to influence people against me at the members meeting. The meeting was held at Mrs. Martin's. Mrs. K. M. Lowry (Tientsin 23 Elgin Terrace) informed me about the same (enclosed is the copy of her letter) and her verbal statement was; "Mrs. Grimes spoke in public against you." Mrs. Lowry gave me an introducing letter to Colonel Drysdale (Milit. Agent Peking American Legation) and said: 'But I wrote them that you are neither immoral nor a political refugee." In spite of her letter I have been unable to find employment in Peking, not to mention the position in Mrs. Peck's house (American Legation) as I did not get any salary there. Late in December 1920 Dr. A. H. Woods in Peking informed me that Mr. Crane the American Minister would do all he could to help me, Dr. Woods offered me to stay with his children. He promised also French conversation with his children. He promised also to help me in finding a position. But as I had no money to pay the hotel bill, Dr. Woods said: "Don't worry about it, the bill will be sent to me and paid, I arranged about all with the manager." Mr. Lutz the Manager when asked said to me; "Dr. Woods said you are ill and are going to stay with Dr. Woods." As to the payment in the hotel Mr. Lutz was confused saying he did not quite undestand Dr. Woods, and asked me to endorse the bill. (Afterwards Dr. Woods refused to receive my bill and the Manager asked me for the money). About Jan. 4, 1921 Mrs. Coms. (Union Medical hospital) wanting to have French lessons for her daughter approved my idea to arrange a class but before giving me a decisive answer she said she had to speak about it to Dr. Woods; and she never gave me an answer. Having failed once more I asked Dr. Woods to recommend me for a situation, but Dr. Woods said it would be very hard to find employment for me and gave me the advice not to fight against slander, as it was like fighting against frogs. I left his house, and informed Mr. Crane that I would accept the offered help from Mr. Crane personally, and not through Dr. Woods. The answer was given through Capt. Brodie, secretary to the Minister: Mr. Crane wants you to stay with Dr. Woods, you are there for 'medical treatment.' I went for examination to Dr. Gray and Dr. di Giura (see copies of the certificates). Advertising in the paper for employment, addressing people personally all was useless, though so many a family needed a governess or a teacher. In March 1921 I addressed the London Mission and two ladies there Miss Wood and her friend Miss Bowden Smith, were anxious to help me. Miss Bowden Smith told me that Lady Alston (British Legation) wanted a governess for her daughter. But as soon as Dr. Woods knew about it he influenced them against me, so that Miss Bowden Smith said to me, that I cannot expect help unless I go back to Mr. Crane, Dr. Woods, and Mr. Peck.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendants in the sum of Mex. $5,000 and for costs of the action.

To the forgoing the defendant Woods field an informal pleading in the nature of a demurrer for which a formal demurrer for failure "to state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action" was later substituted. The other defendant after answering and denying in the main the averments of the complaint, asked leave to substitute a demurrer for misjoinder of parties which is now before us. Plaintiff was heard in her own behalf and was also tendered the services of a member of the Tientsin bar, which were declined.

It will be observed that there is no charge of conspiracy or cooperation between the two defendants, and it is well settled that parties uttering slander (for such it is apparently the purpose of plaintiff to charge) cannot be joined unless the slanderous words are uttered in concert, which is rarely the case and certainly is not suggested in this complaint. The objection of misjoinder must therefore be sustained.

As to defendant Woods it will be observed that the complaint does not charge him with uttering any—

"Base and defamatory words which tend to the prejudice of the reputation, office, trade, business or means of getting a living of plaintiff's" and such the language must be in order to render it slanderous. The statement that "plaintiff is ill and had to stay with the defendant" certainly does not constitute such language, and the accompanying averments regarding defendant Woods indicate a desire to assist rather than injure her. It is true that at its close the complaint alleges that as soon as the said defendant knew about a certain situation "he influenced them against me" but does not allege that he used any defamatory words nor that his influence was wrongful or malicious. For aught that appears from the complaint he may have exerted his influence for what was or at least was believed to be plaintiff's good, on the assumption that she was physically unable at the time to fill the situation and needed to rest. A careful reading of the complaint fails to disclose any averment against defendant Woods which charges an actionable wrong against plaintiff.

We have no alternative, therefore but to sustain both demurrers

It is so ordered
Charles S. Lobingier
Judge.

The day following the judgment, while another case was being heard Miss Rabenow suddenly walked into the court, and without any formality began reading a long letter in connection with her alleged grievances in the slander case. Judge Lobingier allowed her to finish and then explained what procedure she must go through in order to get a further hearing of her claims.
